

Introduction Script

Dr. Adam Soltani · Keynote Speaker & Educator

Short Version

~30 SECONDS

Please welcome Dr. Adam Soltani, Chief Programs Officer at the Oklahoma Center for Nonprofits. Adam leads a statewide team of trainers and consultants serving roughly 1,000 nonprofit organizations across Oklahoma, and previously spent thirteen years as Executive Director of CAIR Oklahoma. He's a sought-after voice on nonprofit leadership, board governance, and equity-centered leadership — known for pairing practical strategy with real stories from the field. Please join me in welcoming Dr. Adam Soltani.

Standard Version

~60–90 SECONDS

Our next speaker has spent nearly two decades building organizations that serve their communities — and helping other nonprofit leaders do the same.

Dr. Adam Soltani is Chief Programs Officer at the Oklahoma Center for Nonprofits, where he leads a statewide team of trainers, consultants, and program staff supporting roughly 1,000 nonprofit organizations across Oklahoma, from major metro nonprofits to small rural organizations. Before that, he spent thirteen years as Executive Director of CAIR Oklahoma, growing it from a one-person operation into a fully staffed organization leading civil rights, advocacy, and interfaith work statewide.

Adam holds a doctorate in leadership from Chicago Theological Seminary, and his work has been recognized with honors including the Oklahoma Human Rights Award and the ACLU of Oklahoma's Civil Libertarian of the Year award. He speaks and leads conference breakout sessions on nonprofit strategy, board governance, storytelling, and values-driven leadership — always grounded in real experience, not just theory.

Please join me in welcoming Dr. Adam Soltani.

A note for hosts: feel free to adapt either version to fit your event's time, tone, or audience. For a custom introduction or additional background, reach out any time.